THE SERAI KABINI

inspired by the waterfront

Kabini is a tributary of the river Cauvery and the Kabini Forest Reserve is a part of the Nagarhole National Park. Which falls under the larger biosphere of the Niligiris. A picturesque jungle of tall trees and streams, valleys and hills, Nagarhole is also home to India's largest tiger population.

By the backwater banks of the river Kabini, at the hem of the water's edge lie the cottages of The Serai Kabini. The doors of each cottage open out to a view of life on and beyond.
